When Robot diagramed the deflection it only showed the vertical deflection, but when you look at the table it shows the horizontal deflection to be 0.0002 cm to the left, which matches my hand calculations.